

The Puffclaud

I was walking through this strange pink house when I saw it. It had a puffy and light pink cat-like body. As it walked by, I saw it had an overbite with one small fang. Its whiskers were curled and twirled. It had big sky-blue wings with navy stripes. Wrapped around its fluffy tail was a sky-blue bow. It stared at me with its cute gleaming eyes. As it walked toward me, I petted it and decided to take it home. We've been living together ever since.
